

Plantations

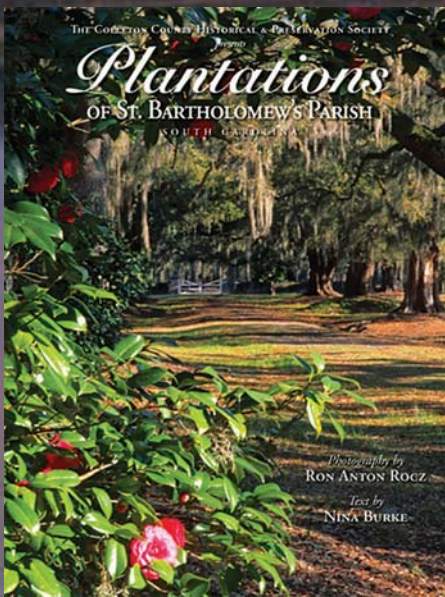

OF ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S PARISH
SOUTH CAROLINA

The Colleton County Historical & Preservation Society takes great pride in announcing the publication of "Plantations of St. Bartholomew's Parish," a beautiful hard-cover volume featuring full-color photography by Ron Anton Rocz of Charleston and text by Nina Burke of Colleton County.

Rich in history and blessed with landscapes of inspiring beauty, the plantations of St. Bartholomew's Parish have for centuries maintained a lifestyle unique to the Lowcountry. The legacy of the rice-planting era, combined with the tradition of stewardship, has led to the preservation, conservation and restoration of these mostly private properties.

"Get thee to Walterboro, and purchase multiple copies of this glorious volume for yourself and for lovers of the Lowcountry on your list."

- Charleston Mercury

REGULAR EDITION:

Hardcover; full color; 160 pages; $50.00 plus $5.00 S&H

COLLECTORS EDITION:

200 signed and numbered copies in a distinctive slipcase;
$100.00 plus $5.00 S&H

To order, contact: The Colleton County Historical & Preservation Society
205 Church Street, Walterboro, SC 29488 • (843) 549-9633
cchaps@lowcountry.com • www.colletonhistoryandpreservation.com