

Sarah Legare Powell Hillman singing along with her dog, circa 1942. From the collections of the South Carolina Historical Society.

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

From the George W. Johnson collection, swimmers pose on the beach at Sullivan's Island, circa 1910. From the collections of the South Carolina Historical Society.

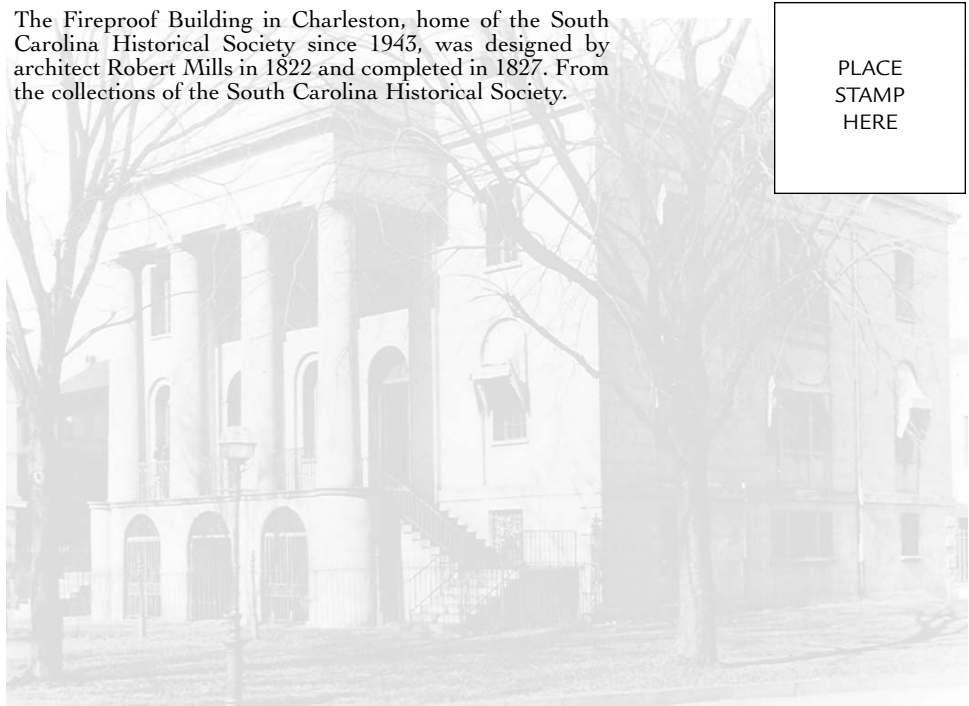

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

The Fireproof Building in Charleston, home of the South Carolina Historical Society since 1943, was designed by architect Robert Mills in 1822 and completed in 1827. From the collections of the South Carolina Historical Society.

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

Group of women ready for the hunt, circa 1900. From the collections of the South Carolina Historical Society.

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

